Eastland Memorial Hospital Launches New Website

Improved Web presence helps community learn more about local healthcare programs and services.

EASTLAND, Texas (Aug. 18, 2015) – Eastland Memorial Hospital (EMH), the local hospital district in Eastland County, announced today the launch of a brand new website at www.eastlandmemorial.com. The new website demonstrates the hospital’s commitment to improving its communication with the community.

“It’s been an exciting project to work on and we are thrilled to have finally launched this new Web platform,” explains Ted Matthews, CEO and administrator of EMH. “The new website showcases an improved user experience, along with essential features that our patients value, such as a way to make secure online payments.”

According to Matthews, the new website offers a wealth of information about the various medical programs and services available in Eastland County. With just a few clicks, visitors to the site can discover more information about the hospital’s acute care unit, cardiac and pulmonary rehabilitation programs, advanced medical imaging and radiology services, sleep studies clinic, surgical services, and the healthcare providers.

“One of the most surprising thing I hear from patients and community members is how they did not know just how much of their healthcare needs can be found right here in Eastland,” Matthews adds. “With that information in mind, we made sure to include all the crucial information our community should know about our hospital and physicians.”

Over time, Matthews says that the Website will be enhanced with new information about upcoming events and happenings around the hospital.
